BULLYING/CYBER-BULLYING

Bullying is unwelcome, repeated harmful behavior that is severe, persistent or pervasive and has the effect of doing any of the following:
1. Substantial interference with a student’s education.
2. Creation of a threatening environment.
3. Substantial disruption of the orderly operation of the school.

Cyberbullying is a form of bullying and occurs when a student is tormented, threatened, harassed, humiliated, embarrassed or otherwise targeted by another student using electronic devices or via the Internet, interactive and digital technologies, or mobile phones. When these actions are committed by a student and directed at an adult, it is harassment. Bullying can be carried out by a single individual or by a group. The target/victim of bullying can also be a single individual or a group. Bullying includes a wide variety of behaviors and generally involves the intent to harm, embarrass or humiliate the other person. Bullying, as defined in this policy, includes the following types of actions:
1. Physical – includes, but is not limited to, the following actions: hitting, kicking, spitting, pushing, restraining, and taking or damaging personal belongs.
2. Verbal – includes, but are not limited to, taunting, malicious teasing, name-calling and making threats.
3. Psychological or Relational – includes, but is not limited to, spreading rumors, manipulating social relationships, intentionally excluding someone from a group, engaging in social exclusion or intimidations, and any behaviors that can undermine or destroy relationships. These behaviors can be either physical and/or psychological in nature.
4. Cyber-bullying – verbal and psychological or relational bullying may also occur using electronic devices such as, but not limited to, computers, cell phones, and pagers. Cyber-bullying includes but is not limited, to the following misuses of electronic devices: harassing, teasing, intimidating, threatening, or terrorizing another student or other child, through e-mail, instant messaging, posting comments or pictures on blogs or website, and text messaging. All forms of cyber-bullying are unacceptable and, to the extent that such actions are disruptive of the educational process of the district, offenders are subject to appropriate school discipline, as well as legal and/or police proceedings.

Bullying is not mutual confrontation or mutual teasing between two persons or groups of persons. Harassment in any form is prohibited and will be treated like any other form of student misconduct. Students who feel they have been a victim or target of harassment should immediately report the alleged harassment to a teacher, nurse, counselor, or administrator.

Consequences for Violations:
A student who violates this policy shall be subject to appropriate disciplinary action consistent with the Code of Student Conduct, which may include:
- Counseling within the school
- Parental conference
- Loss of school privileges
- Transfer to another school building, classroom, or school bus
- Exclusion from school-sponsored activities
- Detention, Suspension, or Expulsion
- Referral to law enforcement officials
What is bullying? Bullying is when children or adolescents harm others on purpose. It includes things like hitting, pushing, name-calling, making fun of others, gossiping, excluding others, spreading rumors and cyberbullying.

When bullying happens, the person who is bullied has a hard time defending him/herself. This is because there is an imbalance of power. The child that bullies may be stronger, more popular or hold power over the person who is bullied.

The harmful actions are repeated or they are very severe. This makes bullied children feel very upset or causes them to stop doing things they used to enjoy.

Cyberbullying is done through text messages, email or Internet posts on sites like Facebook or MySpace.

Bullying harms children and teens. It can make them feel bad about themselves and can hurt their relationships with others. Bullying can also interfere with learning.

Why do some children bully others? Children may bully others for lots of reasons. These reasons include:
- Wanting to be in control or feel powerful
- Wanting attention from others
- Poor adult supervision
- Adult acceptance of bullying
- Prejudice

What can parents do when bullying occurs? Bullying is not something kids need to endure. Putting up with bullying does not make a child stronger. It makes them more at risk for emotional stress. Students that bully are also at risk. They are more likely to get in trouble, participate in risky activities and have problems as adults.

Fortunately, there are many things that parents can do to address bullying.

Bystanders Matter

Bystanders are the people that see bullying when it happens. Bystanders may encourage bullying to continue if they participate, laugh or ignore bullying. Children should be taught about the role of bystanders in bullying. They should discuss and practice helpful responses.

This graphic shows examples of helpful bystander actions.

Tips for parents whose children are bullied:

Talk with your child.

Explain what bullying is and that it is wrong. Let your child know that you will be there to help him or her — and always follow through.

Work with teachers, counselors and principals.

Every school district in Pennsylvania must have an anti-bullying policy. Review your school’s policy and talk to your child’s teacher, guidance counselor or principal if you have questions about it.

Identify an adult at school who your child trusts.

This adult can help your child feel safe at school by listening to him or her. If the adult is willing, he or she may play an active role in checking in with your child and following up with specific concerns.

Document and report continued bullying.

Keep detailed records about the bullying so you are able to tell the school exactly what happened. If bullying continues, write a letter to the school to report the bullying and ask for a response.

Help your child develop new friendships.

Try to connect your child to other children who are positive influences or have things in common with your child.

Help your child learn how to react to bullying, such as:

- Speak up when bullying happens.
- Try not to cry or lash out in front of the bully.
- Walk away.
- Tell a trusted adult.

Helpful hints from kids who have been bullied:

- Tell an adult at home
- Tell a friend
- Make a joke about it instead of reacting with emotion

Work with other parents.

It takes a group effort to stop bullying. Work with other parents to respond to bullying if it is happening in your neighborhood after school hours.

Seek help if your child talks about suicide or seems unusually upset.

Immediately seek the help of a doctor or a mental health professional. If you cannot reach one of these people, call the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline (800) 273-8255.

If your child experiences cyberbullying, he or she should:

- Not respond.
- Block the sender.
- Save or print harmful messages.
- Report cyberbullying to a trusted adult.
- Contact websites or Internet service companies to ask that the harmful messages be removed.

Authorities may be able to help in some cases of cyberbullying. If the cyberbullying is interfering with learning, report it to the school. If you think a crime was committed (e.g., serious threats of harm), contact the police.

While it is helpful for parents to set limits for using cell phones and computers, taking these items away from children all together is not recommended. This may actually cause children to hide their online lives from their parents.

Tips for parents whose children bully others:

Discuss bullying and set clear rules at home.

Let children know that bullying is wrong and that it will not be accepted.

Provide consequences for bullying.

This may include time out, loss of TV, cell phone or computer time, grounding, etc.

Work with school staff.

Learn about the school’s bullying policies and meet with school staff. Get reports on how your child is doing.

Model the behavior you expect from your child.

Show respect to others. Solve problems without aggression. Set a good example for your child.
